A skilled attorney, Agostino counsels a broad range of clients on complex Chapter 11 and insolvency proceedings.

His experience extends to representing debtors, creditors, trustees, creditors' committees and plan administrators. He also prosecutes, defends and negotiates settlements in preference and other avoidance actions, and is skilled with UCC cases and complex adversary proceedings.

Beyond financial restructuring and bankruptcy, Agostino assists aviation and retail clients with a wide variety of general business, litigation and corporate matters. Over the years, he has represented companies in the airline industry and related manufacturers in general commercial matters in the state and federal courts. His experience includes work on product liability claims involving component parts of planes and helicopters, as well as premises liability claims on behalf of airport management companies.

Fluent in Italian, Agostino is also active with the firm's Italy Practice Group.
