Before Fox Rothschild

Prior to joining Fox, Edward was an associate at a Chester County law firm where he represented clients in various transactional and litigation matters, including as the lead associate for a complex commercial litigation case in federal court.

While in law school, Edward was the Managing Editor of the Penn State Law Review, for which his Comment won the Thomas A. Beckley Prize in Legal Writing in 2011. He was also a recipient of the Dean's Scholarship and a member of the Woolsack Honor Society. During summers, Edward served as a judicial intern for the Honorable J. Michael Eakin of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania and for the Honorable John F. Cherry of the Dauphin County Court of Common Pleas.

Prior to the practice of law, Edward was a private client associate for the Wilmington Trust Company, where he assisted in the management of approximately 120 trust accounts with assets worth more than $900 million.
