A seasoned healthcare attorney with more than 10 years of in-house industry experience, Jared advises clients on complex contractual, regulatory, and transactional matters across the healthcare sector.

He provides strategic, business-focused counsel to managed care organizations and providers on a broad range of contractual matters, including managed care and payer agreements, value-based arrangements, affiliations, and service contracts. He also advises clients on compliance with state and federal healthcare laws and regulations, including fraud, waste, and abuse requirements, and assists with government inquiries, investigations, and audits.

In addition, Jared counsels healthcare entities on major transactions, including mergers and acquisitions, joint ventures, entity and practice formation, and the structuring of inter-entity relationships and related agreements.
