A seasoned patent attorney, Sam advises clients in the pharmaceutical, biotech and medical device industries on U.S. and international intellectual property matters.

Drawing on experience as in-house and outside counsel, Sam works with the leaders of businesses ranging from startups to publicly traded international companies to develop global patent portfolios for their critical technologies. He has prepared and prosecuted patents covering several marketed therapeutic products, provides strategic advice on the patent-related aspects of product lifecycle management, and has extensive experience leading clients through the intellectual property aspects of the funding events, acquisitions, licensing transactions and collaborations. A business-focused legal adviser, Sam:

- Procures U.S. and international patents
- Manages patent portfolio management
- Analyzes patent infringement and validity
- Performs due diligence evaluations and support
