Tom previously served as the firm's first General Counsel. Over 18 years, he built the firm's risk management function into a premier team of 40 professionals who handled a comprehensive range of professional liability issues.

His responsibilities included:

- development and implementation of risk management programs and policies
- management of professional liability and insurance issues
- performance of ombudsman duties on behalf of the firm
- presentation of seminars to the attorneys and staff throughout the year on ethics-related topics and best practice concepts
- counseling to the Executive Committee on policies and procedures
- providing Risk Management assistance to the firm's nationwide network of offices.

Prior to his appointment as General Counsel, Tom served as Chair of the Professional Liability Defense Group. His practice involved a broad range of litigation matters, including:

- legal malpractice defense
- personal injury
- medical malpractice
- commercial litigation
